

Qajaq.nl live

Last Updated vrijdag, 11 november 2005

About a month ago we registered the www.qajaq.nl address. And since then we have been busy to give Qajaq.nl a new look and feel and to copy the content accross from the old site. The content also has been slightly restructured and is now maintained using a "content management system", Joomla!.

We will continue to work on the site and in due time the site will be extended with more features.

We will continue to add content ourselves on a regular basis. But we would also like to add content written by others, so that the subject gets covered from multiple sources.

Although we spend a lot of time on the new website, it may happen that certain things do not work as expected. Should this be the case, please let us know through the Contact us link at the top of the page.

The Qajaq.nl team.